

Exporting Australia's quality coal to the world.

There's more to
Australian Mining

Australia's high-quality coal has propelled growth and prosperity across Asia for decades, reducing poverty and improving the lives of billions of people.

Using Australian coal produces fewer emissions per unit of energy generated than lesser quality coal from our competitors.

In the future, low emissions technologies such as carbon capture and storage can help Australia's high-quality coal play its part in global decarbonisation as the world recovers after COVID-19. This means Australian coal can support the building of new cities and a more sustainable environment along with more jobs and stronger local communities.

Learn more at:
minerals.org.au